NEWS RELEASE

SUTTER APPOINTED TO CUTC EXECUTIVE BOARD

Dr. Lawrence Sutter, Professor and Director of the Michigan Tech Transportation Institute and the University Transportation Center-MiSTI was elected to the Executive Board of the Council of University Transportation Centers (CUTC) on June 8, 2010 at their annual summer meeting held at Texas A&M University.

CUTC was established in 1979 by the major transportation research centers and institutes in the United States providing a forum for universities to interact collaboratively with government and industry to advance transportation research and education. The CUTC organization represents approximately 70 principle members and many affiliated partner schools and universities. The CUTC executive board is comprised of transportation leaders from the Western Transportation Institute at Montana State University, the National Center for Metropolitan Transportation Research at the University of Southern California, the Center for Freight and Intermodal Research and Education at the University of Wisconsin-Madison, the Thomas D. Larson Pennsylvania Transportation Institute at Penn State, the Southwest Region University Transportation Center at Texas A&M-College Station, the Utah Transportation Center at Utah State University, and the Center for Transportation Research at Iowa State University.
